Samsul Hq is a role model of Sericulture farmers of West Bengal. He started his new life adopting sericulture as main profession in 1990 when his native village “ Kelai” in Khargram Block of Murshidabad was washed away due to devastating Flood. With the guidance of REC, Nabagram he planted S1635 in 1 Bigha . Initially he got Annual leaf yield of 2.5 t / ha with which he reared 100 dfls multi x multi with an annual return of Rs. 12000 – 15000. But with adoption of modern package of practices of Mulberry cultivation and silkworm rearing and by increasing his plantation area from 1.0 Bigha to 2.0 Bigha along with adoption of Bivoltine rearing during Agrahayani (Oct – Nov,) and Falguni (Feb) crop , he is now able to earn annually 1.5 – 2.0 lakh. He has also got Rearing House under CDP Scheme.

Good Quality Leaf

Healthy Larvae

Good Quality Cocoon

Happy Samsul

With this he has built Pucca Dwelling house with all facilities of TV, Fridge, Water pump etc. and was able to arrange marriage of his daughter in well-established family. This year he has planned to increase his mulberry plantation further more with recently authorized S2038 variety which shows his thrust of adoption of new Technologies. Now he is living peacefully with his wife, grand daughter and son with his endless endeavour of further improving his Annual return from Sericulture.
